The Climate-KIC Ideator programme aims to identify climate-relevant Innovation Opportunities. An Innovation Opportunity is a Climate-KIC term that denotes both an idea and a corresponding market need have been identified. It is implied that the idea has been sufficiently refined to a market proposition.

Pathfinder projects are funded by Climate-KIC (up to a maximum of €50k) within the Ideator Programme to support our Partner community in both:

- The development and refinement of ideas (supply-side)
- The identification of a market need and proposition (demand-side)

While it is highly desirable that Pathfinder applications target Innovation Opportunities as their goal, Pathfinders may just focus on the supply-side or demand-side of an Innovation Opportunity if substantive progress can be targeted.

Pathfinder applications should focus on the priority areas targeted in the Climate-KIC Thematic Priorities document.
